L'ACADÉMIE DU VIN DE BORDEAUX

Preserving and sharing the spirit, history and culture of Bordeaux's wines

The Académie du Vin de Bordeaux has been publishing its Code des Millésimes (Vintage Guide) since 1954 to assist wine enthusiasts when purchasing and opening Bordeaux's wines.

Established by a panel of experts, this guide provides information, for each vintage and each colour of wine, on its Quality, Evolution and Power or Richness: "Dry white wines, while very pleasant when young, evolve to express the subtleties of their character as they age.

Over time, sweet wines reveal the complexity of their flavours. Red wines are often seductive in their early years; wine enthusiasts enjoy following their evolution as they gradually reveal their full potential".

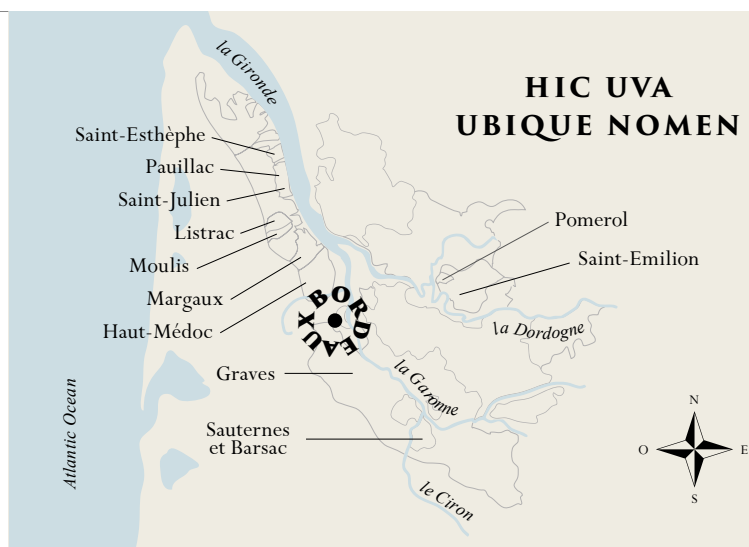

TASTING TIPS

TEMPERATURE — White wines should be served between 8° et 12°C, red wines between 16° and 18°C.

GLASSES — The shape of the glass has a significant effect on the perception of the wine's aromas. Traditionally in Bordeaux, a tulip-shaped glass filled to one-third is used.

AERATION — A young red wine can be poured into a carafe to release its aromas. The wine's age will determine how long beforehand it should be decanted.

DECANTING — A natural deposit may form in the bottle, a sign that your wine is ageing well: decanting carefully will remove any sediment.

The digital version of the Code des Millésimes is currently being developed.
